Burns Campaign Launches Thanksgiving Radio Ad

We are excited to announce the launch of our campaign's latest radio ad, entitled "Your Most Expensive Thanksgiving Ever." The 30 second spot will begin airing today, through the Thanksgiving holiday across central and western New Hampshire on stations WKBK and WNTK. Additionally, our campaign will conduct an aggressive digital advertising push covering the entire congressional district.

The ad focuses on key issues including skyrocketing inflation and the supply chain, which are financially harming New Hampshire families as they prepare for Thanksgiving. Turkey costs 22% more now than it did a year ago, carrots 19% more, and potatoes 13% more. The cost of every aspect of Thanksgiving dinner has skyrocketed and some items are becoming increasingly difficult to even find in the store.

On the launch of the advertisement, candidate Robert Burns said, "The policies of reckless spending and failure to put American manufacturing first by President Joe Biden and Congresswoman Ann Kuster have led us to this point. Inflation is only being worsened by the trillions in new spending that will further devalue the American dollar. I am uniquely qualified to address these issues in Congress, given my decades of experience with manufacturing and budgetary issues."

Robert Burns is a small business owner, lifelong New Hampshire resident, and a constitutional conservative Republican. Born in Nashua and educated at Keene State College, Burns understands our state and has a long history of leadership in the community, the business-world, and the conservative movement.
